company to introduce Selective Chemical Weed Control to western Canada. In 1943 National Grain brought into Canada a spray rig for the purpose of carrying out experiments in chemical weed control. The first demonstration in western Canada was in 1943 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson Tuesday evening.

So quickly did the farmers of western Canada take advantage of the new technique that, in 1943, it is estimated that 8 million acres of farmlands were sprayed with 2,4-D. It is a tribute to the effectiveness of the chemical that farmers adopted its use so widely and quickly.

In keeping with the National Grain's policy of first finding the information and quickly passing it along to grain producers, they publish a yearly "Handbook on Chemical Weed Control," which is available to all farmers on request, as well as presenting a series of colored motion pictures which have been designed to make farmers fully acquainted with the latest techniques, and the most accurate information on Chemical Weed Control.

BOYS PLAY NURSEMAID TO SICK DEER—This exhausted dog which collapsed on the ice of the Grand river in Oak, Ont., was cared for by Terry Madden, 15, and Clement Quimby, 14, until it could be taken to city park for treatment. Animal was one of many running around area in search for food.—A.N.S. photo.

MAN EATEN BY DOG—The body of John Wassman, 77-year-old North York pensioner, was found by police in his Weston, Ont., shack almost completely devoured by one of two dogs he had locked in with him. One dog was dead in the shack when police gained entry. They shot the other to pain entry. Police said the dog died from starvation. They said he apparently would not eat the body of his master. "The place was completely wrecked," police said. They did not know whether Wassman had battled with the dog or had died and then one had eaten its master's body from inside. Only bones were left on the floor near the stove. There were also blood stains. Dog who ate Wassman was belonging to the type shown above.—A.N.S. photo.

TROPICAL FLOWER IS RAISED IN CANADA—For the first time in Canada carnations are being raised at Thos. Ivey greenhouses in Port Dover, Ont. Three miles of greenhouses are said to shelter one of the world's largest cut-flower businesses. Rare tropical flower will be sold in covetage and for the hair of military as demonstrated here by Mary Reid.

SOMETHING NEW IN DOG HOUSE? House, only three months old, owned by Marion Forster, of Thessalon, Ont., finds this mail box just the right size to make a comfortable home.

RESCUED ON HIGH SEAS—Thomas N. Lightsey, Jr., 28, from Belvidere, Minn., is shown on a stretcher as coast guard cutter transferred him from a life boat to a coast guard plane 100 miles east of New York. Lightsey, first officer on the tanker Andrew A. Humphreys, was seriously injured in a jump into its empty tank aboard ship. He was placed in a life boat and transferred to the coast guard plane which landed alongside the tanker and then flew him ashore to New York's Conny Island hospital.

ENOUGH UNTIL THE NEXT SHOOT—This looks like enough gone to last until the next "shoot". They were lagged at Prince George, B.C., and strung out on this line by the proud hunters.

SKIDDING BUS HIT TREE, SELTS WIDE OPEN—Joy pavement is blamed for the crash which bent a bus around the tree with such force that it split open on the opposite side. None of those aboard was seriously injured, it is reported, and three unaccounted were taken on their way after another bus was sent to complete the trip. Heavy vehicle was bent almost at right angles in mishap. Driver of the bus was Jack Travis of Toronto, but was going down a hill at the time.—A.N.S. photo.

KILLER LEAVES TRAIL OF VICTIMS BEHIND HIM—A 19-year-old youth, just released from a hospital for the criminal frame, slaughtered four strangers and stabbed three other persons in a 10-minute rampage through crowded streets of Brooklyn, N.Y. The mad killer, William Jones, finally was beaten into submission with gun butts after police pursued him along three blood-trail blocks. Police reported that killer, seen tied to chair in Brooklyn police station had no apparent motive for attack.
